

New graduates survey 2021-2022, one year after graduation

As part of its satisfaction assessment process, USJ has conducted a survey among its 2021-2022 graduating class, to learn about their future and assess their progress one year after graduation.

The purpose of the survey is to gather insights aimed at improving the quality of its services and its skill-supply. Particular attention is paid to the challenges faced by young higher education graduates as they enter the workforce.

The survey was administered via the Internet between June 2023 and January 2024, among a population of 1,914 graduates. 391 responses were retained, representing a response rate of 20.4%.

The tested and validated online questionnaire comprised 57 questions covering various aspects such as evaluation of the study path at USJ, job satisfaction and skill-mismatch, belonging to the USJ community, evaluation of the Career and Placement Office of USJ, and professional training prospects and needs
