MESSAGE FROM PROF. SALIM DACCACHE, SJ Rector and Chairman of the HDF Board of Directors

Dear members of the university community, dear partners and friends of USJ,

The year 2024 brought its share of challenges – but also remarkable achievements, thanks to the unwavering commitment of Fondation USJ-HDF and the invaluable support of its donors. In the face of ongoing economic and social uncertainty, your trust and generosity have enabled our University to stay true to its mission: advancing academic excellence, fostering innovation, and serving society. Most importantly, your support has allowed students to continue their education.

Thanks to Fondation USJ-HDF, hundreds of students received scholarships, giving them the opportunity to pursue their studies despite difficult circumstances. Today, more than 60% of USJ students benefit from financial aid – and it is in large part thanks to your continued generosity that we've been able to meet this need. However, the challenges remain significant: USJ must continue to support not only its students, but also its instructors and the administrative and support staff who keep the institution running.

I hope to see even more of our Alumni and Friends stand with us – to support our students and to help USJ grow stronger.

This year also saw the advancement of ambitious research projects, reinforcing our contribution to global knowledge. New social and medical initiatives have taken root as well, reflecting our deep engagement with the realities of Lebanon and the region. At HDF, our Social Solidarity Fund has already helped – and continues to help – hundreds of patients who would otherwise face a lack of access to healthcare.

Our shared sense of social responsibility must remain ever vigilant.

To all those who support us – whether through financial contributions or personal involvement – thank you. Your commitment is vital to advancing our educational and human mission, rooted in Jesuit values.

I am confident that Fondation USJ-HDF, under the leadership of its Board of Directors presided by Mr. Samir Assaf (Economics alumnus, Class of 1972), is well positioned to lead a dynamic campaign to raise $150 million in celebration of USJ's 150th anniversary. At a time that is both demanding and full of promise, let us continue working together to build a future grounded in knowledge, justice, and solidarity.

With heartfelt gratitude,

Prof. Salim Daccache, SJ

FONDATION USJ GOVERNANCE

As a testament to good management and transparency, Fondation USJ, presided by the Rector and overseen by a Director, has been, since January 2024, governed by a Board of Directors. The Board will serve as the primary decision-making authority, defining the strategic direction of Fondation USJ based on the needs of the University, HDF, and the HDF hospital network. It will also organize and oversee fundraising activities and manage the raised funds through the Investment Committee.

Message from Mr. Samir Assaf President of the Board of Directors of Fondation USJ

Dear Donors,
Dear USJ Friends and Alumni,

Fondation USJ is more than just an administrative entity within the Saint Joseph University of Beirut. It plays a vital role at the heart of our institution, reflecting our deep commitment to transparency, accountability, and the rigorous stewardship of every donation entrusted to us.

The year 2024 marks a key milestone for Fondation USJ. The establishment of our Board of Directors in January sends a clear message: our pledge to uphold full transparency and exemplary governance in support of USJ, HDF, and its hospital network.

This Board is not a mere supervisory body – it is a team of dedicated individuals driven by a shared commitment to advance USJ's mission and ambitious projects. Our role is to guide, advise, and ensure that every donation is used in the best possible way to further our mission.

We are responsible for defining a strategic vision, approving projects, ensuring sound financial management, supporting fundraising campaigns, and above all, safeguarding the integrity and reputation of USJ.

This 2023-2024 Impact Report is more than a collection of data – it is a testament to our collective commitment to building a strong future for USJ. Through this new governance, we reaffirm our promise to act with transparency, responsibility, and resolve to make USJ shine.

The Board of Directors closely oversees and guides all of Fondation USJ's activities. Backed by specialized committees – Nomination, Investment, Audit and Compliance, and Fundraising – it ensures that we meet the highest standards of governance in response to the expectations of our partners and benefactors.

Why strengthen our governance? Because we recognize that every gift reflects a profound trust – one we have a duty to honor. These funds provide current and future generations with the means to build their future, to advance research, and to support our hospital mission at Hôtel-Dieu de France and across the USJ-HDF hospital network.

In a context where economic hardship heavily weighs on our students and their families, our mission is more pressing than ever. For many, financial aid is essential to access a quality education. By strengthening our governance and management, we strive to preserve and expand this vital opportunity for all those in need. I extend my heartfelt gratitude to all those who support our mission – alumni, members of the university community, friends and external partners. Your generosity and commitment embody the spirit of USJ: one of solidarity, perseverance, and excellence.

Through Fondation USJ, your contributions become powerful tools for change – in education, research, and healthcare. Together, we are shaping not only the future of our University, but that of our broader society.

Thank you for your trust and unwavering support.

MESSAGE FROM NASSIB NASR Director General of Hôtel-Dieu de France

Despite the ongoing crises and following its centenary, Hôtel-Dieu de France has successfully continued its forward momentum. Excellence in healthcare, renovation, modernization, innovation, and expansion are at the core of our mission and commitment.

The HDF-USJ hospital network now manages and oversees five hospitals: Saint Charles Hospital in Fiyadieh-Baabda, Monseigneur Cortbawi Hospital in Adma, Tel Chiha Hospital in Zahle, Notre-Dame de la Paix Hospital in Akkar, and the Family Medical Center (FMC) in Zgharta. Today, this network is the largest in Lebanon, covering a large portion of the country. It includes more than 900 beds, 27 operating rooms, and over 550 doctors. With over 2,000 employees, the network serves more than 31,000 patients and conducts over 12,000 surgeries annually.

The network also offers a variety of medical services and associated entities such as ClinDoctor, a telemedicine platform; HDF à domicile; HDF Health, an exclusive insurance product for the network; a mobile clinic; and an ambulance service linking all these entities. Social responsibility remains a central pillar of this healthcare ecosystem. HDF plays a crucial role in providing healthcare access to the most vulnerable. To this end, the network includes the Family Medicine Center, the Social Pediatric Clinic, and the Primary Care Clinic, offering vital assistance to the underserved. To meet the growing demand for financial support, HDF established a Social Solidarity Fund to help patients who are not covered by private insurance.

These efforts would not have been possible without the invaluable support of our donors, whose generosity continues to grow. These contributions directly support the Social Solidarity Fund and also include donations of equipment and medication, which allow the hospital to continue advancing towards excellence and modernity. Furthermore, initiatives such as events designed to mobilize partners and sponsors help drive these efforts.

I invite you to read this chapter dedicated to HDF and the donations raised thanks to the support of all. This remarkable solidarity reflects the deep bond of the Lebanese and friends of Lebanon to this century-old hospital, a key pillar in Lebanon's history, which has stood by our country through every moment, both joyous and tragic.

With heartfelt gratitude, I thank you all. I also extend my thanks to the institutions, associations, and international organizations that, alongside us, are contributing to advancing our humanitarian health mission.

HDF SOCIAL SOLIDARITY FUND

The prolonged economic crisis in Lebanon - which has been ongoing for more than three years - has left many patients unable to cover the cost of their hospital care. In response to the growing number of requests for financial assistance, Hôtel-Dieu de France University Medical Center (HDF), with the support of Fondation USJ, created the "HDF Social Solidarity Fund" in 2021. This fund aims to provide financial relief to the most vulnerable patients, especially those without social security coverage or private insurance. Its establishment and continued operation are central to HDF's social and public mission.

In this context, in-kind donations are vital to HDF. Contributions such as medical equipment, medications, and other health supplies help improve patient care, support emergency needs, and promote community solidarity. These forms of support also diversify the hospital's resources, strengthening its resilience. By championing these philanthropic initiatives, we help uphold the right to fast, effective, and fair healthcare for everyone.

► May 20, 2024 Call for Support: Patients of the HDF Psychiatry Department

In collaboration with Fondation USJ, the Psychiatry Department at Hôtel-Dieu de France has launched a Social Support Fund aimed at providing financial aid to individuals facing economic hardship - even those who are covered by Social Security or private insurance. This fund is a vital part of HDF's broader mission to ensure accessible and inclusive mental health care. To continue meeting the needs of our most vulnerable patients and to uphold the delivery of high-quality mental health services, we call on generous donors who believe in the value of this humanitarian cause. Your contribution helps sustain a highly professional Psychiatry Department that continues to rise to the complex challenges Lebanon is facing.

5 Support and Guidance of Fondation USJ to USJ Institutions

“One Kit, One Scholarship” – An FMD Initiative

With the backing of Fondation USJ, the Faculty of Dental Medicine (FMD) and its Alumni Association launched the “One Kit, One Scholarship” campaign to support dental students facing financial hardship.

FMD and its Alumni Association created a solidarity fund to provide assistance to as many students as possible, giving priority to children of FMD alumni.

This impactful initiative is designed to maintain the FMD’s high standards of academic excellence by helping students overcome financial barriers and equipping them with essential clinical kits, ensuring they have access to the advanced tools needed for hands-on training.

USJ Choir: A Voice of Cultural Resilience

At a time when basic needs are often unmet and international aid focuses solely on survival, music continues to be our anchor. At Fondation USJ, we are committed to keeping musical culture alive – because we believe music is not a luxury, but a vital source of emotional well-being and professional opportunity.

Despite the fact that USJ Choir members perform on a volunteer basis, the costs of staging concerts are significant. In the face of inflation and growing financial constraints, external support is essential.

By backing the USJ Choir, we aim to sustain Lebanon’s cultural and musical presence on both local and international stages. Our support ensures the Choir can deliver high-quality performances in collaboration with acclaimed Lebanese and international musicians, while also nurturing and promoting emerging Lebanese talent.

To preserve its exceptional collections and reinforce its academic and research leadership, the library has launched several project initiatives.

Supporting the Oriental Library is essential to ensuring the perennity and visibility of this unique cultural legacy, keeping it at the forefront of scholarly work, and guaranteeing access for generations to come.

RESEARCH AT USJ

USJ: A Driver of Research, Innovation, and Technology Transfer

Since its founding in 1875, the Saint Joseph University of Beirut (USJ) has been actively committed to serving society, notably through dynamic research that enhances academic training and drives innovation across a wide range of disciplines. As the University prepares to celebrate its 150th anniversary in 2025, and in the face of the multiple crises Lebanon has been experiencing since 2019, USJ remains firmly dedicated to advancing excellence in research and innovation in line with its strategic plan, designed to meet emerging challenges and address societal needs.

Five key research areas have been identified to respond to national, regional, and international priorities:

- Medicine and Health
- Science, Engineering, and Technology
- Economics, Management, Banking and Insurance
- Law and Political Science
- Arts and Literature, Humanities and Religious Studies.

All research projects at USJ are aligned with the United Nations'

17 Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), incorporating initiatives that address pressing global concerns such as poverty, gender equality, and climate change.

In 2019, USJ launched the Wikindx platform to centralize and manage research articles and bibliographic syntheses. Relunched in 2024, the platform now tracks research outcomes, publications, and citations, and researchers are encouraged to submit their work to enrich the database and facilitate analysis. USJ also joined the international forum One Sustainable Health For All 2023, engaging in efforts to tackle health and environmental challenges caused by overlapping global crises. Its multidisciplinary project, "USJ's Intervention Approach - Toward Sustainable Health for All", contributes to this initiative by addressing Lebanon's specific needs.

Moreover, USJ was selected to participate in the Lebanon Innovate program, coordinated by Berytech and funded by the European Union, which aims to transform academic research into market-ready products and support economic development in Lebanon over the next three and a half years. In this context, USJ has developed a comprehensive roadmap to enhance research management, increase the value of research findings, and support the commercialization of technologies, with training initiatives beginning in 2024.

Prof. Richard Maroun, USJ's Vice-Rector for Research, was appointed Chair of the Research Commission of the Regional Conference of Rectors of the Middle East (C2RMO) under the Agence Universitaire de la Francophonie (AUF), a commission that seeks to structure and promote Francophone research in the Middle East while encouraging regional collaboration and interdisciplinary work. Through all these efforts and its 2024-2027 development plan, USJ reaffirms its essential role in Lebanon's economic and social development by investing in research, innovation, and international cooperation to address both present and future challenges.

Key Research Figures at USJ in 2023-2024

As part of its research, innovation, and knowledge transfer strategy, USJ currently operates:

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS

Vice-Rectorate for International Relations: Past and New International Projects

USJ and AIS Launch USJ-CI

During the 2023-2024 academic year, an ambitious and exciting project came to fruition: the establishment of the Saint Joseph University - Côte d'Ivoire, USJ-CI. The founding agreement was signed between USJ and the Académie Ivoirienne des Sciences (AIS) at USJ's Humanities Campus on April 30, 2024, during the ceremony marking the launch of our University's 150th anniversary activities. Over 700 people attended, including H.E. Abbas Halabi, Minister of Education and Higher Education, and representatives of H.E. Adama Diawara, Minister of Higher Education and Scientific Research. This event was followed by the official launch of USJ-CI in Abidjan on June 12, 2024, at the Sofitel-Hotel Ivoire Conference Center. The launch event was attended by Ivorian partners, the Rector of USJ, leading a delegation of vice-rectors, deans, directors, and their representatives, as well as numerous ministers, public figures, and business leaders. The Ministry of Higher Education and Scientific Research was particularly well represented, with H.E. Adama Diawara and his eight advisors in attendance. Despite tight timelines and the war that devastated Lebanon, the academic year began as scheduled in September 2024, with around 100 students enrolled in the four bachelor degree programs offered: business administration and management, marketing and advertising, computer science, and psychology.

USJ Receives Support from the Fonds des écoles d'Orient for the Second Consecutive Year

For the second consecutive year, USJ has benefited from the Fonds des écoles d'Orient, a joint initiative of the French Ministry of Europe and Foreign Affairs - through the French Embassy in Lebanon - and Œuvre d'Orient. In light of Lebanon's ongoing crisis, further intensified by the war that erupted on October 7, 2023, this exceptional support was renewed for the 2023-2024 academic year. The €265,000 grant helped cover part of the dollarized tuition fees for around 90 students in their final year of study. It also allowed for full coverage of these fees for eight students enrolled in the bachelor degree program that includes the "Teaching French" module at the Faculty of Education. These future educators will go on to teach French language and literature, as well as science subjects in French, in non-accredited schools. The aid is administered by the Vice-Rector for International Relations, in collaboration with the Financial Aid Office and the Faculty of Education.

Rehabilitation Projects for the BO and MPL Successfully Concluded with Aliph, QNL, and Œuvre d'Orient

In the aftermath of the Beirut Port explosion, the Oriental Library (BO) and the Museum of Lebanese Prehistory (MPL) suffered extensive damage. Support from the Aliph Foundation and the Qatar National Library, in partnership with Œuvre d'Orient, played a key role in their restoration (cf. Fondation USJ's Annual Impact Report 2020-2022). Following a partial reimbursement by USJ's insurance provider in 2023, an agreement was reached with the international partners to close the projects. This final phase included a major improvement to the existing renovations: the purchase of a new power generator and the installation of solar panels, for a total investment of $139,361.

A PLEDGE OF UNWAVERING TRUST

The partnership between Berytech and the Saint Joseph University of Beirut (USJ) reflects a shared vision. Driven by a commitment to continuous improvement and innovation, USJ established Berytech to meet a critical need: to support innovation and create opportunities that turn challenges into engines of sustainable progress. Since 2002, we've been working together to pave new paths and guide Lebanese youth toward success and excellence.

In today's socio-economic environment, where challenges are increasingly complex, recognizing and nurturing talent is more important than ever. As a leading academic institution, USJ plays a key role in offering steadfast support to its students. With the backing of their university and their own resilience, these students represent a generation poised to face tomorrow's challenges with determination and strength.

At Berytech, we firmly believe that Lebanon's future relies on these bold young minds, ready to innovate and transform obstacles into opportunities. Through strategic collaborations and shared initiatives, we are building the foundations for a brighter future. USJ students can be confident that, with their passion, perseverance, and the tools provided to them, they are equipped to thrive and actively contribute to a better world.

Della TAMARI

Education is a cornerstone of society, shaping individuals who are responsible and future-oriented. For this reason, it has always been at the core of the Tamari Foundation's mission.

However, education alone is often insufficient. In Lebanon, where individuals must often take on the role of the absent State, civic engagement is just as essential if we aim to defend the common good and foster better governance at all levels of society. To achieve this, we must encourage dialogue and raise awareness of civic values among young people by creating spaces for exchanging ideas, rather than focusing on identities.

The Saint Joseph University of Beirut, whose values of tolerance and commitment align closely with those of the Foundation, was the perfect partner for the creation of the University Diploma in Civic Engagement and Citizen Initiative, developed in collaboration with the Tamari Foundation, ALAM, and Fondation Diane.

At the Tamari Foundation, we are proud to support students of this program through scholarships, just as we have supported young people in other fields of study both in Lebanon and abroad for many years. Watching the next generation grow intellectually and personally is incredibly rewarding. Beyond financial contributions, our goal is to provide opportunities that can truly change lives.

Supporting education is ultimately a long-term commitment. Students are agents of change who will build the society of tomorrow. This is why the Tamari Foundation strongly believes in a holistic approach to education – one that integrates human values such as respect and selflessness, alongside traditional academic success criteria.

We consider our mission a success when we see students we have supported giving back by helping others, whether through their time, expertise, or even financial contributions, creating a virtuous cycle of limitless mutual aid.

Philippe JABRE

The association I founded is celebrating its 25th anniversary this year, and since its creation, it has embodied my deep commitment to the academic sector. While its initiatives have expanded over the years to include medical, cultural, and institutional fields, my primary focus remains on education, as it is the key to transforming societies and offering individuals the opportunity for a better future.

This belief motivates my support for the Saint Joseph University (USJ), renowned for the exceptional quality of its students. Currently, my main priority is to assist those wishing to pursue a master's degree abroad, as this type of support is still rare and highly valuable.

I truly believe that investing in a student creates a long-lasting impact. By supporting them, we change their life, their family's life, and their community's life. The effect of this action lasts for decades, making it one of the most rewarding forms of assistance. In fact, I fully agree with the idea that there is more joy in giving than in receiving, provided the giving is thoughtful. I believe that true happiness lies in seeing the tangible impact of this help on others' lives. To date, I have had the honor of supporting over 3,000 university students, which remains a significant source of pride for me.

My collaboration with Fondation USJ is equally fulfilling. I appreciate their dedication and am always eager to learn about their new initiatives. As for the future of my scholarship program, I continue to rely on merit-based and weighted criteria, which have proven to be effective and relevant over the years. My greatest hope is that this approach will inspire other philanthropists, for in our country, where the State's role is limited, it is individual and collective initiatives that truly make a difference.

Lastly, I want to share a message of hope with the students benefiting from this support: the help they receive today is much more than just financial aid. It is a gesture of encouragement and a testament to our belief in their potential. I hope they will always remember that this support carries with it a responsibility – the responsibility to pass on this generosity to others. Making a difference in someone's life is the greatest act of gratitude and can help make the world a better place.

Alexis HABIB

As a passionate advocate for education as a powerful engine of social change, I have always believed that supporting the academic sector is one of the most meaningful and lasting investments we can make for the future of our society. Young students are not only the promise of tomorrow – they are the very architects of a more resilient and prosperous Lebanon.

Our foundation's commitment to the Saint Joseph University of Beirut is rooted in a deep appreciation for its historical and ongoing role in shaping responsible, visionary leaders. USJ stands as more than a place of learning – it is a cornerstone of knowledge and excellence that continues to uplift Lebanon, even amidst significant socio-economic adversity.

Continuing to support USJ students is, for me, both a moral duty and a deeply rewarding endeavor. Investing in their education means nurturing individual potential and, through that, contributing to a more fair and equitable society. It's far more than a financial contribution – it's a human commitment, one that brings with it the quiet satisfaction of knowing we're making a real difference.

I truly believe in the saying, "There is more joy in giving than in receiving." I have seen firsthand how this support can transform lives, and these experiences only strengthen my desire to continue offering a helping hand.

Our partnership with Fondation USJ has been marked by transparency, and a shared commitment to impact. This strong collaboration gives me confidence as we look ahead – to expand our scholarship program, reach more students, and deepen the scope of our work.

To the students who benefit from this support, I offer a simple but heartfelt message: believe in your strength, your dreams, and your ability to rise above challenges. You are the heartbeat of our country's future, and it is a privilege to play a part in your journey.

Faculty of Dental Medicine (FMD)

I'm writing this message with deep emotion, thinking back on everything I've experienced since the day I walked into Ms. Maria Saadé's office at the USJ Financial Aid Office. Back then, I was filled with hope – but also uncertainty about what the future would hold. Five years later, I realize that this scholarship has meant so much more than financial support. It became a foundation, a source of strength, and a gateway to my dreams. It gave me the peace of mind to focus entirely on my dental studies and face challenges without the constant weight of financial stress. Without it, my academic journey would have been much harder – perhaps even impossible.

To you, the generous donors – true builders of futures – I want to say thank you from the bottom of my heart. Your support is more than just financial aid; it's a mission that changes lives. You turn dreams into reality, fear into confidence, and ordinary paths into extraordinary ones. Thanks to you, I found the strength to keep going, to believe in myself, and to feel a deep sense of belonging in the USJ community.

If, one day, I succeed in my career thanks to the opportunity you've given me, I promise to carry this spirit forward. Whether by offering financial help, mentorship, or simply support, I will do my part to pass on the hope and light you've shared with me. You've changed my life – and for that, I will always be grateful.

Nour Ghadban

School of Mediterranean Agricultural Engineering (ESIAM) / Agricultural Engineering Student

The scholarship I received played a pivotal role in shaping my academic journey at USJ. It allowed me to pursue my degree in agricultural engineering despite the significant financial strain caused by the economic crisis of recent years. Thanks to this support, I was able to fully dedicate myself to my studies without the constant burden of tuition fees and other university-related expenses. Without it, I would have had to consider less expensive alternatives, which could have compromised both the quality of my education and my career aspirations.

This opportunity also opened doors to enriching experiences – access to high-quality academic resources, personalized mentoring, participation in conferences, practical workshops, and innovative research projects. I am deeply grateful to the donors whose generosity went beyond financial help; it gave me a strong sense of belonging to USJ and deepened my commitment to learning.

Motivated by this experience, I am determined to give back – whether through financial support, mentorship, or guidance – to help future students thrive.

USJ has offered me more than an education; it has been a launching pad for my ambitions, where academic excellence is met with solidarity and personal fulfillment.

Faculty of Science (FS) / Biochemistry Student

I am currently studying at the Faculty of Science, where I earned my Bachelor in Life and Earth Sciences – Biochemistry, and I'm now pursuing a Master in Environmental Science and Management. The scholarship I received has relieved me of financial worries, enabling me to focus entirely on my studies and form strong connections with my peers. Without this support, I would have had to either attend a public university or work long hours while studying at USJ, which would have certainly impacted my academic performance. A donation for education is always valuable, as it opened the doors to a prestigious institution for me. In the future, I hope to give back and support upcoming USJ students, whether through donations or by providing job opportunities.

Mariam SAAD

School of Engineering of Beirut - North Lebanon Branch
Computer and Communications Engineering Student

My journey at USJ: A dream come true thanks to solidarity! Joining USJ was a dream, especially in light of the difficult times Lebanon has been enduring. However, angels appeared, offering me the support that reignited hope within me and promised a bright future. Without this invaluable support, I would have likely been forced to knock on countless doors, with no guarantee of achieving this dream.

I am deeply grateful to all the donors who made this possible. I will always remember those who supported me, particularly Mrs. Fadia Alam

El Gemayel and Ms. Myriam Ghosn, who were the foundation of my academic path. Their support relieved any financial worries, turning what could have been a struggle into a personal journey of success and excellence. Just as they helped me achieve my dreams, I am committed to helping other students in the future, because helping one person is like helping their entire family.

A heartfelt thank you to the Saint Joseph University of Beirut, and especially to its Rector, Prof. Salim Daccache, SJ, for making this all possible.

Faculty of Pharmacy (FP)

During these difficult times our country is going through, both economically and socially, the financial support I received has been a true relief, giving me the hope I needed to overcome these stressful situations. This scholarship has undoubtedly had a tremendous impact on my academic path, enabling me to focus entirely on my studies and give my best, all while envisioning a future full of success. This opportunity has inspired me to never lose hope and to understand that education is accessible to anyone who persists, regardless of the obstacles they face.

Of course, this would not have been possible without the generosity and support of the donors, and I would like to express my heartfelt gratitude to them for the scholarship I received. In a few years, if the opportunity arises, I will not hesitate to give back by contributing to USJ to support those who lack the privilege of pursuing their studies without financial help, as I firmly believe that education is the key that opens doors to a brighter future and success, both professionally and socially.

Faculty of Law and Political Science (FDSP)

I would like to share my story, hoping that it will inspire other students facing challenges. Since 2019, Lebanon's economic crisis has greatly affected my dream of becoming a lawyer to defend those who are most vulnerable. I have always dreamed of attending USJ and studying law, but the situation almost forced me to give up on this ambition – until the day I reached out to the University's Financial Aid Office. With their help and the generous support of donors, I was finally able to make my dream a reality.

Today, I am in my second year of law. Without this crucial support, I would not have been able to continue my studies at a reputable university and would have had to settle for a field that does not excite me. I am deeply grateful to those who reached out to help me, and I hope that one day, I will be able to do the same for other students, helping them overcome their challenges and achieve their dreams, just as I have.
